Road Conditions
Towing a trailer or driving a motorhome on steep mountain roads requires being prepared for the unexpected. Most of Colorado is rural, and much of it is mountainous, often at high elevations and with wildlife.

Roads may be closed due to wind, hail, snow, ice, accidents, and of course construction. You can encounter snow nearly any month of the year.

Plan your trip accordingly. Call 511 (out of state, call 303-639-1111) or visit www.cotrip.org for current road conditions.

In an Emergency:
911

Always Call 911
for Medical or Safety Emergencies

Wildfires
Wildfires can occur and spread quickly. Be alert! Have an escape plan.

Campfires aren't necessarily a given in Colorado. Dry conditions and strong winds can lead to burn bans. These bans are set by local jurisdictions of authority. Please contact the campground office to know the current conditions before lighting your campfire.

An average of 1.2 million acres of U.S. woodlands burn every year, and more than 4 out of every 5 wildfires are caused by people.

Colorado's Most Comprehensive Campground Guide

View Complete Details on CampColorado.com

Camp Colorado wants you to enjoy your camping vacation.
A few tips will go a long way toward ensuring an exceptional experience.

Altitude Sickness & Sun Protection
A Rocky Mountain High has to do with breathtaking scenery at incredibly high elevations ... which can metaphorically and physically take your breath away. Seriously, without proper considerations, altitude sickness can negatively impact your vacation.

Be sure to drink plenty of water, avoid alcohol, caffeine, and strenuous exercise for the first several days, and arrive a day or more early to have time to adapt, especially if you plan to be hiking and climbing.

You can find more information online at AltitudeSicknessCure.com

Another aspect is the sun. Prepare to cover up or use some sort of sun block. At these heights, with thinner air, you'll be grateful you protected yourself.

Marijuana
Colorado legalized the recreational use and sale of marijuana, yet that doesn't make it allowed everywhere. Before assuming anything, contact the campground's office to learn of their policy. Some are very strict, while others treat it similar to smoking cigarettes or drinking alcohol.

Rely on CampColorado.com
Our website, CampColorado.com, is full of useful information to help plan your trip. Search our site to find where to stay that offers:

- RV sites
- Tent sites
- Rental options
- Propane
- Pet friendly
- Dog park
- Equine friendly
- Dump station
- And any of that based on the month of your trip.

Planning Resources
In addition to CampColorado.com, we recommend the following resources.

Turn to Colorado.com for a comprehensive list of festivals, events, historic areas, itineraries, and community insight.

Turn to GoCampingAmerica.com to find campgrounds in the states that lead to your Colorful Colorado vacation!

Colorado Is Open for Camping All Year
Go ahead! Take in the spring, autumn and winter festivals, the less crowded trails, and some snowy adventures like snowshoeing, snowmobiling, cross country skiing, and even downhill skiing.

Many Colorado campgrounds are open all year, with perhaps limited services yet still catering to the needs of those who travel in the off-seasons. Off-season camping offers a long list of tremendous experiential variations.

Find a Dealership
Colorado has RV dealerships from one corner of the state to the other. Turn to the National RV Dealers Association to find an RV dealership in your local area. Most offer new, aftermarket, and rental equipment, and many provide maintenance service.
